Comprehension (2 x 1 marks = 2 marks) (4 x 2 marks = 8 marks)

Read the passage below and answer questions 1 to 5.

Dan worked for a farmer in a village. The work in the farm was tiring. By the time Dan finished all his tasks and went to bed, it was usually very late at night. The farmer would wake Dan at five o'clock to start work when the rooster crowed every morning. He had to milk the cows before the sun had risen. 5

"If the rooster was not around, I would not have to get up so early!" grumbled Dan. He thought of a plan to get rid of the rooster.

One day, while the farmer was away, Dan killed the rooster. "I can sleep longer now," he thought to himself. The farmer returned and found the rooster dead. He buried it sadly. The farmer was afraid that Dan might oversleep, so he woke Dan at four o'clock in the morning. 10

In the end, Dan realised that he had made an awful mistake by killing the rooster. He was angry with himself. 15
