Read the passage carefully and answer the questions that follow. Choose the most suitable answer and write its number (1, 2, 3 or 4) in the brackets provided.

Madam Ajoo lived as a poor widow with her only son, Jit. Her husband, a construction worker, died when Jit was only six years old. He was at the site when a beam fell onto him. He died during the tragic mishap. Since then, Madam Ajoo who had been a homemaker, had to hold two jobs to earn a living.

In the morning, Madam Ajoo did the laundry for some families in the neighbourhood. 5
She would spend the rest of the day working as a cleaner in a restaurant. Madam Ajoo toiled to see her son through education. Jit, on the other hand, felt neglected, and he was angry with her.

As the years passed, Madam Ajoo suffered from an illness as she hardly had time to rest. She kept the illness from her son as she did not want him to worry. As Jit grew older, he hardly spent time at home and was with his friends most of the time. 10

In the middle of one night, Jit came rushing home. He had a bag with him. Madam Ajoo was in the kitchen taking a drink when she overheard her son's telephone conversation and realised that he had committed a robbery. It pained her so much to know what he had done. She was torn between reporting him to the police and shielding him.

Finally, with tears welling up in her eyes, Madam Ajoo picked up the receiver and 15

Section I: Comprehension Open-ended (5 x 2 marks)

Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions that follow.

It was not hotter than any other days. Father saw his sons, Ah Mun and Ah Long, to Uncle Seng's old car, before leaving for work. Uncle Seng was going to the city with the boys.

Along the way from the village to the city, Ah Long noticed beads of perspiration on Uncle Seng's forehead. 5

"It is very hot today!" Uncle Seng replied with a weak smile when Ah Long mentioned this to him. The boys thought it was rather odd. The weather was fine and it would be wonderful to go on a long drive. As they were travelling along the highway, Uncle Seng shifted his gaze from time to time. He seemed uneasy. 10

"Look! There is a road block," Ah Mun pointed out.

Further down the road, there were a few policemen with guns. They had stopped two cars ahead of them and were doing a spot check.

"Curses! Curses!" Uncle Seng muttered to himself. His cold and clammy hands were gripping the steering wheel very tightly. He looked pale. 15

"Do not worry, Uncle Seng." Ah Long said, feeling puzzled. "The police only catch criminals but we are not criminals."

The boys noticed that Uncle Seng's face went even paler. At that moment, they sensed that something was wrong.

"Uncle Seng, you did not hide anything, did you?" Ah Long asked curiously. 20
