Section E: Comprehension (MCQ) (5 X 2 marks)

Read the passage carefully and answer the questions that follow.

All honeybees are social and cooperative insects. There are generally a few types of honeybees. Worker bees are the only bees that most people ever see. These bees are females. Worker bees search for food, build and protect the hive as well as look after the young.

The queen's job is to lay eggs. There is usually only a single queen in a hive. If the queen dies, the worker bees will create a new queen by feeding one of them a special diet of a food called "royal jelly." This substance enables the female bee to develop into a fertile queen. The queen produces chemicals that guide the behaviour of the other bees.

Finally, the third type of honeybees is called drones. Drones are male bees that are defenseless and cannot protect the hive. Their main function is to mate with the queen to produce the next generation of bees. Several hundred drones live in each hive during spring and summer. However, they usually die upon mating or forced to leave the hive during the winter months when there is little food left.

Honeybees live on stored honey and pollen all winter, and cluster into a ball to keep warm. Larvae are fed from the stores during this season and by spring, the hive is swarming with a new generation of honeybees.

I looked pleadingly at the group with hopeful eyes. It was getting tougher searching for food in the newly-renovated coffeeshop. The floor was spotless and customers were now reluctant to throw food on it.

I had not eaten since the previous morning. Though weak with hunger, I waited patiently near the table. However, twenty minutes went by and my hope gradually faded. I had 5 to move on. There was no point in waiting for something that was certainly not coming.

The night wind blew into the coffeeshop and I shivered. I had always been cold and hungry. Since birth, I had been roaming the streets, fending for myself. The humans, especially the boys, were always cruel to me. Some had even tried to fling me down from a high storey. I was fortunate when my frantic mewing caught the attention of a kind adult who had then tried to 10 help by reprimanding the boys. After the alarming experience, I was wary of boys.

I dragged my exhausted body to the next table and was about to settle down next to it when a boy reached down for me.

Immediately, I drew back.
