Singapore was elected the host city of the inaugural Youth Olympic Games (YOG) on 21 February 2008. The Journey of the Youth Olympic Flame (JYOF) signifies the start of the first (21) YOG to be held in Singapore in 2010. This journey aims to connect youths globally to the Olympic Movement by inspiring them to embrace, exemplify and express the Olympic values of (22) Excellence, Friendship and Respect. In embracing the Olympic values, youths around the world (23) unite in a global celebration of the first YOG and the power and positive impact that they have (24) made by their shining examples.

As with the Olympic Games, the JYOF will start its journey from Olympia, Greece. The Youth Olympic Flame will then travel to one city in each of the five continents and arrive in Singapore on 6 August 2010. Thereafter, the journey will continue in a six-day round-island torch relay before coming to a high point in the lighting of the Cauldron at the Opening Ceremony. This (25) will take place at The Float@Marina Bay.

(Go on to the next page)

It was seven minutes after midnight. The dog was lying on the grass in the middle of the lawn in front of Mrs. Shears' house. Its eyes were closed. It looked as if it could have been running. But the dog was not running or asleep. The dog was dead. There was a garden fork sticking out of the dog. The points of the fork must have gone all the way through the dog and into the ground because the fork had not fallen over. I decided that the dog was probably killed with the fork because I could not see any other wounds on the dog and I did not think you would stick a garden fork into a dog after it had died for some other reason. But I could not be certain about this.

5

I went through Mrs. Shears' gate, closing it behind me. I walked onto her lawn and knelt beside the dog. I put my hand on the muzzle. It was still warm. The dog was called Wellington. It belonged to Mrs. Shears who was our friend. She lived on the opposite side of the road, two houses to the left.

10

Wellington was a poodle. Not one of the small poodles that have hairstyles but a big poodle. It had curly black fur, but when you got close you could see that the skin underneath the fur was a very pale yellow, like that of a chicken. I stroked Wellington and wondered who had killed him, and why. I pulled the fork out of the dog and lifted him into my arms and hugged him. He was leaking blood from the fork holes.

15

I like dogs. You always know what a dog is thinking. It has four moods - happy, sad, cross and concentrating. Also, dogs are faithful and they do not tell lies because they cannot talk. I had been hugging the dog for four minutes when I heard screaming. I looked up and saw Mrs. Shears running towards me from the patio. She was wearing pyjamas and a housecoat. Her toenails were painted bright pink and she had no shoes on. She was shouting, "What have you done to my dog?"

20

I do not like people shouting at me. It makes me fearful that they are going to hit me or touch me and I do not know what is going to happen. "Let go of the dog!" she shouted. Coming to my senses, I put the dog down on the lawn and moved back two meters. She bent down. I thought she was going to pick the dog up herself, but she did not. Perhaps she noticed how much blood there was and did not want to get dirty. Instead, she started screaming again. I put my hands over my ears and closed my eyes and rolled forward till I was hunched up with my forehead pressed onto the grass. The grass was wet and cold.

25

30

Then the police arrived. The policewoman put her arms round the distraught Mrs. Shears and led her back towards the house. I lifted my head off the grass. The policeman squatted down beside me and said, "Would you like to tell me what's going on here, young man?"

I sat up and said, "The dog is dead."

For each of the question from 26 to 30, four options are given. One of them is the correct answer. Make a choice (1, 2, 3 or 4). Shade the correct oval (1, 2, 3 or 4) on the Optical Answer Sheet. (5 marks)

26 When the author found the dog, it was _____.

- (1) chasing a cat
- (2) running on its side
- (3) sleeping on the grass
- (4) lying motionless on the lawn

27 According to the author, it is easy to tell what dogs are thinking because they _____.

- (1) cannot respond to humans
- (2) are faithful and do not tell lies
- (3) can only exhibit four emotions
- (4) are unhappy when they concentrate

28 In line 11, the sentence 'It was still warm' tells us that the dog _____.

- (1) had just died
- (2) was running before it died
- (3) had been dead for a long time
- (4) was out in the sun before it died

29 Why does the author dislike people shouting at him?

- (1) It petrifies him.
- (2) It confounds him.
- (3) It makes him feel agitated.
- (4) It makes him feel disgusted.

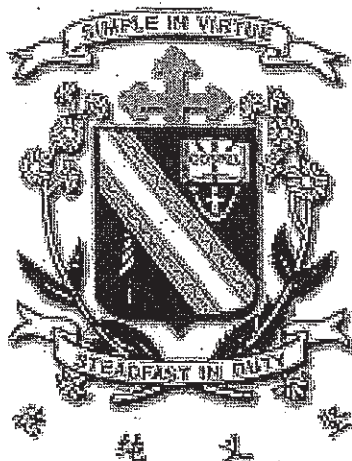

30 Which one of the following statements is true?

- (1) The author lived next to Mrs. Shears' house. ~~X~~
- (2) The policeman suspected the author of killing the dog.
- (3) Mrs. Shears was on her way to work when she saw her dead dog.
- (4) The death of the dog could have been caused by the garden fork.

This booklet consists of 9 printed pages and 1 blank page.

There are 10 blanks, numbered 31 to 40, in the passage below. From the list of words given, choose the most suitable word for each blank. Write its letter (A to Q) in the blank. The letters (I) and (O) have been omitted to avoid confusion during marking. (10 marks)

EACH WORD CAN BE USED ONLY ONCE

(A) also	(D) from	(G) into	(K) of	(N) while
(B) and	(E) for	(H) might	(L) on	(P) will
(C) but	(F) in	(J) not	(M) only	(Q) with

My grandfather was a teenager when he and his brothers jumped on a train in Wisconsin, headed west, and never looked back. They changed their names Johnson to Johns to avoid confusion as there were too many men (31) named Johnson in logging camps where they worked. Here they began new lives.

Behind my grandfather's small farm was a forest we explored together. Our adventures instilled me a love of the outdoors and the power (32) observation. When I was ten, my grandfather taught me to shoot a rifle; (33) our hikes evolved hunting trips. Eventually I put down my rifle (34) picked up a camera. (35)

Whenever I photograph in a forest, I am reminded of my grandfather, just because of the skills he taught me, but because of the (36) (37) life he led. I can't help wonder how he reconciled his love of the forest (38) the fact that he cut down trees. I am sure he would have had a (39) thoughtful response. Perhaps he even have become a conservationist, (40) fighting for the trees he loved. But that is speculation, coming from a grandson who adored his grandfather.

Melinda Clark whispered, "Good night, Courtney." It was 10:00 pm. She jumped under her own covers, but she did not pull them up. Even though it was February and there was snow frozen on the ground outside, it was unusually warm that night, especially for Everett, Pennsylvania.

Something wet slopped along her cheek. (It was Beau, their miniature collie.) His tail thumped alongside her bed as she rubbed his sable fur. Melinda's nose twitched at the smoky odour in the air. (It was probably just the wood stove downstairs.) Fumes travelled up the staircase easily. Then two-year-old Justin startled her as he burst through the doorway. His face was flushed red. 5

"What?" Melinda jumped up. The carpet felt very warm as she dropped her bare feet onto the floor. The smoky smell was stronger as she stood up. She rubbed her tingling cheeks and ran out. As she opened the door at the top of the stairs, smoke sucked up the steps in swirls. Orange flames crackled and leapt towards her like snatching fingers. She covered her hot face and screamed. She turned and yelled for her twelve-year-old brother, Wayne. Although the bedroom light was on, she could not even see his bed through the ballooning smoke. But Wayne fought through the grey haze and stumbled into her. He was in his underwear. "My window!" Melinda yelled. Together they ran to the double windows, where Wayne began struggling with the stubborn latch on the chest high ledge. The curtains melted down the sides of the window. Flecks of hot plastic burned into Wayne's bare back. Courtney fearfully stood by. 10 15 20

Melinda and Wayne banged at the latch and the window. Then Melinda threw all her weight behind the thrust. Together, they finally forced the window open. Wayne climbed out on the plastic porch roof. Melinda handed Courtney over the window before pulling herself over the ledge. The three children walked to the edge of the roof. Wayne jumped to the ground to catch the younger kids. 25

Suddenly Melinda looked at Wayne. "Where's Justin?" she screamed. Without pausing for a breath, she turned around and climbed back over the hot window ledge.

"Justin!" she called. 30

She crawled low on the hot carpet. She found the closet and with her hands, she felt around. No Justin. Could Justin have gone back to his bedroom? If he had, she would never make it through the smoke and flames. Stretching out flat, she felt under Courtney's bed. No Justin. She coughed in spasms. As she crawled towards the window, she heard a noise. She scrambled across the floor and reached under her bed, her hand bumping into fur. Beau whimpered again and licked her hand. She went past Beau and touched hair. Justin was hiding, too. "Thanks for whimpering, Beau," she thought. 35

She pulled Justin out from under the bed. He clung to her like a baby koala as she crawled back towards the window. She lifted him over the window ledge and climbed out behind, gasping mouthfuls of air. A second later, the window below them exploded, shattered glass flying everywhere. Courtney and Justin screamed and pulled at Melinda's arms. Melinda yelled for Beau before falling into the snow eighteen feet below with her siblings. 40
