Ta Li was a tall and strong boy who was fond of fighting. Those who were younger and smaller felt intimidated. Ta Li often said that he was second to none. He would without any reason, bully people at will. "Yesterday, he ordered me to do all his homework. How tyrannical!" Kumar complained.

"Once, I saw him standing outside the principal's room. When I asked what happened to him, he told me to mind my own business!" Joshua grumbled.

Out of the blue, Ta Li appeared from behind them. "You two! Carry my bags!" he commanded. Kumar and Joshua ignored him. Ta Li then rushed forward and tried to punch them. ## The Art of Positive Thinking Workshop

Date: 1 November 2021

Time: 9.00a.m. – 5.00p.m.

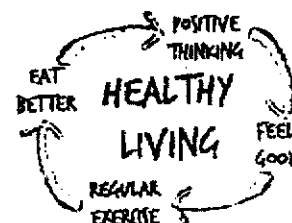

Brought to you by the Being Positive Group

About the workshop

Have you wondered why some people are always happy while others are not? This has to do with having a positive mindset. Positive thinking is the practice of focussing on the good in any given situation. This can have a big impact on your physical and mental health. Sign up for this workshop now! Participants will have a life-changing experience!

During the workshop, you will:

- learn how to manage stress
- learn how to set achievable goals
- learn how to focus on your strengths
- learn how to cultivate a growth mindset
- get to prepare a healthy and tasty snack

What do the experts say?

People with a positive outlook are more hopeful about the future. Does positive thinking lead to success? Definitely! Research has shown that people who are happy are more successful, perform better because they are more motivated and more effective. Positive people have more energy, are more self-reliant and hopeful. Because of this, they tend to set higher goals and expend more effort in order to reach their goals. They are also more resilient and will bounce back and persevere despite setbacks.

But what if you are naturally more pessimistic? No worries. When you have a negative thought, try to stop it and focus on the positive instead. Your negative thoughts will not go away overnight. But with practice, you can train yourself to have a more positive outlook.

Let's Hear From Our Participants!

I attended this workshop with my dad, and I am amazed at the impact it has on me! Now, I no longer feel discouraged when I'm unable to accomplish a task. I tell myself that I am not able to do it 'yet' but I will get there one day.

~ Jason Li from Sunshine Primary School

I'm surprised that my son has changed so much after attending the workshop with me! Now, he is no longer addicted to his mobile devices but makes it a point to revise his work daily. I would highly recommend this workshop to all parents who wish to help their children improve.

~ David Li, a parent

☆☆☆ Meet one of our BEST trainers! ☆☆☆

"Nothing in this world happens without a thought and intention behind it." Eddie's famous quote has inspired hundreds and thousands of people who had listened to his sharing.

A sensational and veteran trainer, Eddie Chan is one of the biggest believers and supporters of positive mindset. Long before he became a famous trainer, he had already started believing that he would get there someday. His thoughts and affirmations are so strong that he gets to exactly where he wants to be.

This workshop will be his swansong after having been a trainer for more than three decades. So, don't miss this golden opportunity to meet him face to face. He will share many successful stories that are truly inspiring!

More details about the workshop

- ♥ Registration is on a first-come, first-served basis and will close two days before the event.
- ♥ Stand a chance to win attractive prizes if you are among the first 50 to register for the workshop. A lucky draw will be conducted at the end of the course.
- ♥ All ingredients for preparing the snack will be provided.

In June 2019, a junior football team experienced an adventure of a lifetime – a nightmare that they would never forget. After their training session, the boys, together with their coach, cycled up into the forested hills. Their destination, the Luang Cave, was a favourite haunt for the boys.

Nearing the cave, the boys dismounted and left their bikes by an abandoned hut. "Let's go!" the coach urged. Enthusiastically, the boys scrambled to be the first to enter the cave. The last boy was desperately racing ahead to catch up with and overtake his friends. Otherwise, he would be teased ceaselessly. It was all for fun and none of them ever complained. Besides, the first one to enter the cave would be rewarded with an ice cream treat from Coach Adi.

Once inside the cave, the boys were thrilled as usual. Armed with some fallen sturdy tree branches and torches, they trod carefully along the narrow and winding passageways. Along the way, Samad and Jodi paused briefly to write the names of new team members on the cave walls with chalks they had in their pockets. Deeper and deeper, they clambered into the cave, exploring its nooks and crannies in high spirits. Little did they know that danger lay ahead.

Just as they were preparing to go back to the cave entrance, the unthinkable happened. A thunderous rumbling sound broke the silence. Then, there was another and another. Jodi, the timid one, cupped his ears, tears welling up his eyes. "Uh oh... I think we won't be able to leave now," remarked Coach Adi. And almost immediately, water was gushing into the cave. Jodi shrieked and cried like a baby. Samad guffawed. Coach Adi immediately shot him a deathly glare. The sudden flash flood had caused rainwater to flood the cave.

"Hurry, we must move deeper into the cave! Hold each other's hands tightly as you walk," said Coach Adi, grasping Jodi's hand and wading cautiously ahead. The team responded quickly. Gingerly, they moved steadily across the knee-deep water and walked further and further into the cave to escape from the flood. After a while, the coach came to a halt when he caught sight of what was ahead. "Look at that! We are safe!" Though they were overwhelmed with fatigue, everyone pressed on and soon stopped in front of the small rocky ledge.

Filled with hope, they climbed onto the ledge to escape the flood. But their happiness was short-lived. At that precise moment, the water level began to rise higher. "Oh no! There is no way out! We've reached a dead end!" Samad exclaimed. Hearing that, Jodi wailed again. Coach Adi wrapped his arms around the boy and all they could do was huddle together and keep warm. The boys were terrified but were determined to survive as they wanted to see their family members again.

Noticing their anxiety, Coach Adi said, "You must stay calm and composed. Only then, you'll be able to conserve your energy." They did not have any food with them, but they did have a steady supply of water, which they got from the droplets of water dripping from the cave walls.

When the boys did not return home by dinnertime, their families alerted the police. Together with a team of divers, the police launched a rescue effort that went on for almost a week. Yet, they did not give up. Fortunately, on the sixth day, the divers found what they had been looking for. The light from a diver's torch illuminated an electrifying sight - the boys emerging from the darkness! The lost boys had finally been found!
