Mrs Kelly Tan, the principal of Crest Primary School, gave an inspiring speech on the first day of school this year.

(39)

She spoke about how success did not come easy for her, as she had a rebellyos streak. When she was in primary school, she refused to koperate with her teachers. She was often iryteble snapping at those who tried to counsel her.

(40)

(41)

Recalling those days, Mrs Tan said, "I hit rock bottom. I did not want to attend school." However, her parents never gave up in her. They encouraged her to working hard and stood by her. Over time, they won her over and she realised how disrespect

she had been towards her teachers and parents. Embearased about how badly she had treated them, she sincerely apologised to them and begin to change for the better.

After graduating from university, she enrolled in a teachers' college to fulfil her espirayshen to be an educator.

(48)

Now, she is a successful principal which commitment to leading the school is komendeble. She attributes her success on her parents' unwavering love. What an inspiration she is!

(49)
