It was my turn to wash the dishes that night. Unwinding from the day's work, my parents were lounging in the living room, sipping tea and watching television. Meanwhile, my brother had retired to his room. I whistled a tune as I gave the greasy saucepan a good scrub, the bottom charred with stubborn bits of food. "Why not inject some fun into such a mundane task?" I thought. Setting the timer on the oven, I challenged myself to finish cleaning the saucepan in three minutes. I scrubbed relentlessly, my hands nearly giving out from the effort. Shortly after, I had completed the task. It had just taken me two and a half minutes! Surpassing my goal, I pranced around the kitchen but stopped abruptly. The sight of the mountain of plates awaiting my attention made me sigh in resignation.

- Meet-and-Greet: Miss Lettuce, Mr Kale and Mrs Cauliflower.
- Free food-tasting sessions: 10a.m. to 11a.m. and 11a.m. to 12p.m. Only 50 vacancies are available for each tasting session.

More hydration. More life!

Eat water-rich foods to stay hydrated. Cucumbers and lettuces contain over 95% water. The high-water content helps to maintain energy and optimise our heart and muscle function. Proper hydration is essential for good health.

DID YOU KNOW?

- A pomegranate can hold up to 1400 seeds.
- Green beans are fruit.
- Each pineapple plant produces one pineapple a year.
- Blackberries and strawberries are not berries, but a banana is.

Check out the following fun activities:

Free Storytelling Session

Time: 9a.m. to 10a.m.
Venue: Reading Room

Listen to a magical story about a boy who joined forces with vegetables to fight evil bacteria. Learn to make origami vegetables after the storytelling session. This activity is only for children below ten.

Grow Your Own Vegetables

Time: 6p.m. to 7p.m.
Venue: Garden
Fee: $30 per participant (must be at least five years old)

From ginger to spinach, we will teach you how to grow vegetables at home from vegetable scraps that would otherwise end up in the trash. Receive a seed packet to get you started at home.

Home Composting

Time: 3p.m. to 5p.m.
Venue: Garden
Fee: $10 per adult (all materials included)

Make your own compost to reduce the amount of waste sent to the landfill. This hands-on workshop will teach you what kind of food waste you can use and how to transform it into nutrient-rich compost for your plants.

An apple a day keeps the blues away!

Research shows fruit and vegetables can boost emotional well-being in just two years. They can increase creativity and curiosity too. So, what are you waiting for? Incorporate more fruit and vegetables into your daily food intake!

THO recommends 5 A Day
(5 portions of fruit and vegetables)

Reasons for 5 A Day:

- Fruit and vegetables are packed with vitamins.
- They can prevent digestion problems.
- They taste delicious.
- Many varieties to choose from!

Please note that the passage for Comprehension questions 71 to 80 in Booklet B is on the next page. You may now go on to Booklet B.

Refer to the passage below when you answer questions 71 to 80 in Booklet B.

The villagers gathered eagerly at the bus stop at the crack of dawn. The level of excitement was further heightened by the arrival of Anna, who had earned herself a place in her dream school – a prestigious one – in the bustling city with her stellar results. "Congrats! We are so proud of you!" the people chanted in unison.

Although flattered, she felt awkward. Anna blushed and waved away the praises. Her father was obviously heartened by that. "My sweetie, no matter where you go, always value what you have, use what you have and trust what you have." His words of wisdom were a constant source of empowerment for her. Giving her father a long loving hug, Anna promised him that she would do him proud. Soon, the bus pulled over, breaking the morning serenity with its cheerful rumble. 5 10

Arriving at the new school and navigating through unfamiliar corridors, Anna eventually found her classroom. Despite the flutter in her stomach, she summoned all her resolve to confront her apprehension head-on. Unsurprised, she was met with curious stares. Her simple clothing and the innocent sparkle of village life in her eyes became the subject of whispers and giggles among the city-bred children. At that precise moment, someone entered the room. Her commanding presence ushered in silence. Much to Anna's delight, she spoke in a warm voice, easing the tension she felt in her stomach. "Class, we have a new friend joining us today. Let's welcome Anna." Linda, the monitor, yawned audibly. Jim sniggered. Murmurs filled the room until Mrs Yan declared, "Now, a quiz. Write down the seven wonders of the world." Everyone immediately wrote down feverishly the answers as they recalled the previous day's lesson, except Anna, whose pen was hovering over the paper. Noticing that, the teacher approached her. "Don't worry, Anna. Just write what comes to your mind." 15 20

Anna looked up, her eyes sincere. "It's just that there are so many wonders. I'm thinking about which to select," she explained. With a gentle nod, Mrs Yan gestured for her to proceed. After the papers were collected, she began to read the answers aloud. The entire classroom was filled with a sense of achievement as the students had penned down 'The Great Wall of China, The Colosseum in Italy, Giza Pyramids in Egypt' and so on. However, Mrs Yan paused for a while when it came to Anna's response. 25

Then she carried on, "The Seven Wonders are – To be able to see, to be able to hear, to be able to feel, to laugh, to think, to be kind and to love." A profound silence enveloped the room. Visibly moved, the children looked at Anna, their eyes reflecting a mixture of admiration and enlightenment. 30

Jim and Linda exchanged sheepish smiles. Then Jim spoke, "I never thought of it that way. That's really cool. You've reminded us of something very important." His voice was tinged with newfound reverence. 35

Linda gave the thumbs up before chiming in, "Wow! I've lots to learn from you. Sorry about just now." The children's affirmation had created a welcoming atmosphere, showing acceptance and inclusion towards the new student.

Anna replied, "It's alright. These are the wonders we live by every day in our village." 40

Seizing the teachable moment, Mrs Yan proposed, "Let's dedicate today to exploring these everyday wonders. Share what each of them means to you." While her classmates were actively engaged, Anna was deep in her thoughts. Her father was right. Had she not valued what she had, would she have won her classmates' love and respect? Her father would be pleased to know that her day had ended on a high note of camaraderie. 45
